

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction xi

Part 1. Liberty and the American Constitution

1. Is Patriotism a Mistake? 3
2. Notes on Pluralism 21
3. Undermining the Constitution 41
4. A Life of Fear 60
5. On Being Watched and Known 93

Part 2. Politics, Aesthetics, and Morality

6. Aestheticism and Morality: Their Cooperation and Hostility 117
7. The Judgment of Arendt 150
8. Courage as a Virtue 169
9. Technology and Philosophy 196

viii Contents

Part 3. The Adequacy of the Canon

10. Socratic Integrity 215
11. Wildness and Conscience: Thoreau and Emerson 245
12. Prohibition and Transgression 272
13. Hobbes and the Irrationality of Politics 298
14. Ideology and Storytelling 334
15. Can Cultures Be Judged?:
Two Defenses of Cultural Pluralism in Isaiah Berlin's Work 361
16. The Adequacy of the Canon 384

Index 409